

Illegal aliens complain of too many illegal aliens

BELLE GLADE - There are so many illegal alien farm workers in the Glades now, according to a U.S. Border Patrol agent coordinating a pickup this week, some of them are complaining they can't find work because there are too many of them competing for the jobs available.

William E. Kitchens, Patrol Agent in charge of the West Palm Beach office, has been in the Belle Glade area since Monday. He said the Patrol agents have rounded up "about 65 or 75" aliens who in the area illegally but said the roundup was, "just routine stuff". Kitchens said he had just come from the Naples-Immokalee area, where Border Patrol agents had picked up 110 illegal aliens. "They finally started hiding in the boondocks and stopped work while they hid from us, like they're starting to do here."

He said there is an overabundance, with the harvest season starting but not fully geared up, and several of the aliens who have been arrested have complained they haven't been able to find work.

He said some of the aliens being picked up, ranging from Pahokee to Clewiston, have been undocumented, who have no visas or passports at all, while others have been documented, meaning that while they had a passport and visa when they entered the country, it was usually a tourist visa and they had simply used it to come in and find work.

"These people write home," he said, "and tell all their friends the streets here are paved with gold and the Americans don't want to work."

"Another reason there are so many illegal aliens," he said, "is they've been hearing the talk by President Carter about the amnesty program and they believe if they come in, they'll be able to stay. They don't understand the amnesty program isn't in effect."

Kitchens said the number of illegal aliens who've been arrested in attempts to come into the country has tripled this year, with some Mexicans in the western states being picked up three and four times a day while attempting to sneak over the borders.

He said the Patrol agents in the past couple of weeks have been picking up Guatemalans, Hondurans, Chileans, Jamaicans, Haitians, Costa Ricans, Panamanians, Mexicans, and even a Cuban and a Japanese.

"We haven't picked up a Cuban since the 1960's," he said.

50th anniversary is next April

City plans birthday party

BELLE GLADE—The Belle Glade Bicentennial Committee acted Friday to coordinate a weekend-long festival on April 8-9, 1978 to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the city's founding, with the possibility of using the celebration as a springboard to an annual festival.

Bicentennial Commission Chairman Dolly Hand called the meeting at the request of Mayor Tom Altman, who wrote a letter to her last week asking the Committee, on behalf of the city commission, to take on the task.

Altman, who was a moving force more than two years ago in founding the original committee, eventually became a member of that committee and met with the group Friday to begin laying plans for next year's celebration.

The committee members unanimously moved to sponsor the birthday festival on April 8-9 because city records researched by City Clerk June Boglioli indicate the city was founded on April 9, 1928 in a church-house meeting.

Committee members Ruth Wedgworth and Curtis Thompson pointed out that the Community United Methodist Church has already slated a homecoming day on April 9 in commemoration.

The first idea for the celebration to be firmed up was to hold a parade and Mrs. Lynette Thompson, who coordinated the Bicentennial Parade on May 31, 1976, was chosen to head up that project.

Other ideas, all tentative at this stage, included a catfish fry to commemorate the early catfishermen, a raft race at the city marina, a square dance, fireworks, a play or skit depicting the founding meeting and possibly to invite a group of Seminole to erect a chickee to depict their way of life at the time.

The committee also decided to request input from the public—see BIRTHDAY P9

Settlers were sneaky when founding a city

EDITOR'S NOTE: Although most of the modern residents know at least something about the disastrous 1928 Hurricane which took place 50 years ago next year, the story of how Belle Glade was founded isn't so well known.

But Belle Glade wasn't founded in your garden variety, run-of-the-mill fashion. Like most Glades history, it makes fascinating reading and probably no one is more qualified to tell the story than Belle Glade's own Cracker Historian, Lawrence E. Will, who was at the scene.

Following is a reprint, with Mr. Will's permission, of the entire chapter on Politics in the Swamp from "SWAMP TO SUGAR BOWL" by Mr. Will.

may not know. He's right good eating, too, if you can't find nothing better." So you're fishing in that gopher hole, but you never know where you'll pull out a tasty gopher, or a pecky rattlesnake. Politics can work that way in Okeechobee's swamps as well as under the capital dome. So if you want to learn what a well organized minority can do, you'll be right smart amused when I tell you how Belle Glade got incorporated. I was right there in the church house and I saw it all happen, yet like the rest of the crowd, I was just as blind as at jooty owl at high noon, as to what was a-going on. Politics can move in a mysterious way, its blunders to perform, but as it happened, this worked out O.K. in the end.

Belle Glade was incorporated April 9, 1928, when the whole population hereabouts, I reckon, white and colored, couldn't have

HOW ABOUT THAT, BOSS? could be the comment being made by outgoing Chamber of Commerce President Dr. Cecil Conley as he presents the Citizen of the Year Award to Mrs. Dolly Hand, who happens to be chairman of the board of trustees for Palm Beach Junior College, which employs Dr. Conley as vice president in charge of the Glades campus.

Mrs. Dolly Hand named Citizen of the Year

BELLE GLADE—A decision last month to change the Chamber of Commerce's top annual award from Man of the Year to Citizen of the Year came just in time for Mrs. Dolly Hand, who became the second woman in history to win the top award and the first person to win it under its new name.

Mrs. Hand was presented the award during the chamber's annual awards banquet last Thursday night by outgoing Chamber President Cecil Conley. Frank Teets was named Agri-Businessman of the Year and Patrolman John Bernard Runkles was named Police Officer of the Year at the same banquet.

Kenneth Mock of West Palm Beach received a special award from Franklyn Jones for his work on the Canal Hazards Safety Committee in his efforts over several years to get SR 80 four-laned between South Bay and West Palm Beach.

Dr. Conley cited Mrs. Hand's work in helping organize support for the Belle Glade Municipal Library as a member of the Glades Steering Committee for Palm Beach Junior College's Glades Campus and, currently, as a member of the college's Board of Trustees, of which she is now chairman, her work as a member, now chairman, of the Belle Glade Bicentennial Committee and as a member of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Teets, winner of the Agri-Business Award, is another member and past director of the Chamber of Commerce and has served as president of the Belle Glade Beautification Committee.

He is presently serving as secretary and director of SoBay Drisheart, Inc. and Glades Production Company. He is secretary of Florida Lettuce, Inc.; treasurer and director of Florida Celery Exchange; a director of Management Research Institute and a director of the Agribusiness Forum, Inc.

Gunter campaigns for FAIR amendment

BELLE GLADE—When State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter spoke to members of the Chamber of Commerce during the Chamber's Annual Awards Banquet last Thursday night, he gave them a chance to get personally involved in his drive to bar pain and suffering lawsuits resulting from automobile accidents. Before the banquet began, Gunter placed copies of his FAIR (Floridians for Automobile Insurance Relief) Amendment petitions on each of the tables in the banquet hall.

The petition drive, he said in an interview before the banquet, is an effort to force an initiative referendum past state politicians and amend the state constitution to prohibit the speculative lawsuits in an effort to reduce insurance rates. Gunter said FAIR needs at least 254,000 signatures, some 43,000 more than Gov. Reubin Askew needed for his Sunshine Amendment petition, to give the state's voters a chance to decide whether they want to do away with the pain and suffering suits.

"Governor Askew needed 8 1/2 months to get his signature," Gunter said, "but I hope we can complete our drive sooner, possibly by next spring."

As he has in a number of places around the state during recent weeks, Gunter said his petition drive began only after he had met stonewall resistance in previous efforts in the state legislature and before the State Constitutional Revision Committee.

He said his efforts have been meeting with a large degree of success in meetings around the state, saying he managed to get more than 200 signatures in little more than an hour recently at the Jackson County State Fair in Marianna. 1,001 signatures Wednesday night in the Little Havana section of Miami.

He met Thursday with officials of United States Sugar Corporation in Clewiston before coming to Belle Glade and said he had given them 2,000 petition forms to pass out to their employees.

Traffic Council, Bevis to meet

BELLE GLADE—Public Service Commission William H. Bevis and PSC Executive Director Jack P. Dodd will be the guest speakers at the regular Lake Okeechobee Traffic Council meeting to be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Holiday Inn here.

"Traffic Council President Pat Drake said Bevis and Dodd will be speaking on the PSC's functions and past actions. He said they will also field questions on areas governed by the PSC."

"As you know," Drake said, "the LOATC is striving to improve intra service to the Lake region and protect what service we now have." The council is made up of individuals and businesses representing Belle Glade, South Bay, Pahokee, Clewiston, LaBelle, Moore Haven, Okeechobee and Indian town.

Reservations must be confirmed with Laverne Alston, secretary, at 996-8171 today. Drake asked that reservations be conveyed early for this meeting since facilities will be limited.

BILL GUNTER makes a point during his talk on auto insurance rates and the FAIR Constitution 1 amendment petition to the Cham-

Nowhere else in the United States, I would venture to say, has a region as small as the Everglades recorded a legacy more varied.

There were cowboys and Indians, rich men and poor, war, disaster, industry, pioneers, politics, and just about everything else a historian can recall.

The Glades were, and still are, a true melting pot in which people from all nations gathered and went about the business of building a hearty breed of folks able to withstand the best man or nature could throw at them.

One of the "keepers of the history" was honored last Thursday night by the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce, a woman who has done a master's job with the Bicentennial Committee and other civic projects, Mrs. Dolly Hand.

The whole Glades community owes her a great deal for her work and the honor bestowed upon her could not have been given to anyone more worthy.

One of the most interesting tales on the lake occurred in 1925, when Lake Okechobee was closed to commercial fishing through the influence of sportsfishermen.

The way in which it was closed is the sportsfishing lobby must be used to get a law passed prohibiting all seining in fresh water.

But only weeks later, commercial fishermen on the lake got their lobby together and passed another law which legally made Lake George and Lake Okechobee "not fresh water."

Then things rocked along until 1945, when the legislature prohibited all seining in both lakes, whether they were fresh salt, or indifferent.

In 1947, seining was again allowed for a brief period, but the commercial fishermen didn't really know the period was going to be that brief.

And along came the "Great Lakeport Fish War." Many people in this traditional fishing area were under the impression it would last much longer, therefore a considerable amount of money was invested in seines and trawls; but in 1951, it was shut down "for good."

And the price of fish went up. Georgia was the marketplace and the fishermen began bootlegging delivery trips that would have done justice to prohibition.

A whole bunch of new game wardens were imported in an effort to keep the illegal fishing down, but the fishermen gave the game wardens a run for their money in the lake in the dark of the night to run their speck traps and pull their trawls.

Equipped with fancy new boats manufactured by a man named Gillis from Okechobee, pushed by powerful 100-horsepower engines, the fishermen gave the game wardens a running, and sometimes shooting, battle for years before it all died down.

It never vanished and whenever a "part-time" commercial fisherman could find a market, he'd take his trawl out of the closet and load it into his Gillis boat.

Now commercial seining and trawling is once again legal in Lake Okechobee, providing certain rules and regulations are carried out. And according to an announcement this week by Lake Okechobee Fisheries Utilization and Management director Lathan Ager, a very definite step is being carried out to aid both sportsfishermen and commercial fishermen in abiding by the regulations.

Ager says 130 Coast Guard type buoys will arrive shortly to be put a mile out in the lake outlining the boundaries outside of which commercial fishermen can legally operate.

These are a definite improvement to the program since guessing distance over water is one of the toughest things to ask a man to do.

Another regulation, which should be favored by sportsfishermen, is increasing the depth traps must be placed in from four feet to six, meaning the traps will have to be placed farther offshore than before, in most cases.

The program appears, after one year of operation, to be working. There are still bugs to be ironed out and likely, Lathan and his crew will be ironing for some time.

But they are working hard to manage a renewable resource in the best interests of all involved.

Opinion

Amendment is FAIR for people

When State Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter agreed to speak last week to the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce Annual Awards Banquet, no one was surprised at his topic.

Gunter has been campaigning for more than a year now to cut auto insurance rates by banning lawsuits for speculative damages. His efforts with the elected politicians and the people appointed to the State Constitutional Revision Committee have met with no success and he's now taken his fight directly to the public in the form of a petition for an initiative referendum to make the ban part of the state constitution.

He gave the 200 people at the banquet copies of the referendum petition but we felt the FAIR (Floridians for Auto Insurance Relief) petition was important enough to give everyone in Belle Glade a chance to get their signatures recorded.

Gunter said before the meeting he needs at least 254,000 signatures to put the question on the ballot for next year's general election. That's a lot of signatures for any group to gather but we feel if Governor Askew could get nearly that many to force his Sunshine Amendment before the people, Gunter should also be successful.

After all, everyone in the state is being hit and hit hard by rising insurance rates and this is a good chance to do something about it.

There's no question that there's going to be opposition, the stiffest kind of opposition which will be skillfully applied, but we think it's high time the people of the state had their say in this matter. If the people want to hang onto their right to sue each other for pain and suffering, so be it, but if they'd rather give up that right in exchange for lower insurance rates, we believe they ought to have that right, regardless of what the Trial Attorneys Association wants.

If you want to see the FAIR Amendment placed on the ballot next general election, complete the petition form and mail to: The FAIR Amendment; P.O. Box 20285; Tallahassee, Florida 32304.

Liars and liars

There are three kinds of liars, according to an old cliché, liars, damn liars and statisticians and, like most clichés, there's more than a grain of truth in it.

According to a recently completed statistical study reported in the University of Minnesota Law Review, the death penalty "rarely, if ever, deters murder." Take your pick for how that fits the above cliché, A, B, C or All of the Above.

The study did go on, however, to admit that a high murder conviction rate and prison sentences for murderers have a deterrent effect. Naturally, and so does a conviction rate with a death penalty attached have a deterrent effect.

If nothing else, those murderers who've been convicted and have paid the ultimate price for their crimes sure haven't gone out and tried for encores, unlike some of the ones who have been convicted, have been sentenced to prison, have served part of all of their sentences and have been released to go out and murder again.

Not to mention the recent case of the man who went on a multi-state killing binge but said he avoided Texas because he knew the death penalty had been re-imposed there, commenting he'd have to be crazy to risk death himself by killing someone there.

Of course there are murders which nothing could deter and it's a known fact very few professional murderers have ever been convicted so the death penalty almost certainly has no effect on those two categories.

But we can't help but believe the death penalty, applied on a fair, consistent basis, will deter a great many murders.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

One of these days, I'm going to have to get up to Pasco County to see what makes that place tick.

It doesn't seem more than a few days ago when I heard about the Suda and Suga and I guess it has been the better part of a year now. Anyway, I haven't exactly noticed a burgeoning growth of topless hamburger and beer joints on this side of the state.

Now comes the news about the uncovered undercover sheriff's agent up at that way who set up a drug bust in, of all places, a nudist colony.

Course there had to be expected number of bad jokes about where Deputy Scott Phillips wore his badge and gun during the three months he was on duty in the Lake Como Nudist Camp near Land O'Lakes.

And this month's Sheriff's Star ran a couple of cartoons about the hazards of pulling a bust where the frisking could get a bit too frisky.

But if some of the deputies might've gotten too frisky, there must've been a few among the 25 or so deputies on the job who were embarrassed by the whole thing too. I know I would've been.

Which brings up something else. According to the story in the Sheriff's Star, there were more than a few spectators and cameramen along on Sheriff John M. Short's little jaunt.

I understand there was at least one guy who was rounded up who had more than one reason to be embarrassed. He was a police officer from a nearby town.

I've always held the range of blush is controlled by wherever the neckline is. If you're wearing a buttoned shirt and tie, the blush stops at the neckline. Wonder if there's any such thing as an all-over blush? That probably would have been a good place to find out.

One of the problems Sheriff Short warned his men about in the pre-dawn briefing he gave them was that they might have some difficulty requiring the suspects to show proper identification.

Uh huh! That could be a problem, but on the other hand, those same suspects sure couldn't be expected to be hiding much, either.

At any rate, like I say, one of these days I'm going to have to get up to Pasco. I've always been under the impression things around the Glades got pretty weird at times and that suits me because I've been told to pretty weird myself. On 11 other hand, when was the last time Frank Fogleman and his troops raided a nudist camp?

Matter of fact, when was the last time anyone in Belle Glade romped up to a drive-in where the waitresses were a bigger drawing card than the hamburgers?

And speaking of weirdos, seems Ana, our Girl Friday who handles just about every job worth doing here at The Herald, is considering doing a college paper on the paper here for a college course she's taking in Sociology.

I don't have the foggiest what she hopes to find out so far as Sociology goes but I figure any newspaper office would make a great case study for a course in abnormal psychology.

One of the standing jokes around this place is that we have an unwritten slogan that we hire the morally handicapped, not to mention mental and physical. Matter of fact, that seems to hold true with just about every paper I've ever worked for so maybe there's some grist for the sociological mill here.

Of course, there's Iz Nachman's claim that a newspaperman is, by definition, a professional drunk but that's just the beginning. I've seen spastics, a guy with his hands attached directly to his shoulders, people I could swear were mentally retarded and, I swear to God, even a dwarf, on different papers I've read.

Probably the most disconcerting of all was the spastic. He had a problem of walking by whenever you were working and all of a sudden his right arm would fly up over his head and he'd give out a reasonable imitation of a karate yell.

Scared the bejesus out of you the first couple hundred times it happened. If you weren't a nervous wreck by the time you finished the first few days on the job there, you just weren't trying. But I'm still gonna have to get up to Pasco County.

Band-sponsored carnival is termed a success

PAHOKEE - Saturday night the Pahokee High School Band, in cooperation with the Band Parents Association, sponsored a Halloween Carnival at the Pahokee Elementary School, to raise money for the band uniforms. It began at 5 p.m., and lasted until 9 p.m.

The evening was filled with games and laughter. To start with; you may have satisfied your appetite with warming chili, relax or proceed on the Wheel-of-Fortune to try your luck; or test your throwing skill at the baseball throw; or (quietly) enjoy the good 'ol favorite, bingo.

In keeping with the tradition of Halloween, a journey through the Haunted House was in order. For past and present students of Pahokee High teacher Lou Sarraes, the grand finale of the evening was the once in a lifetime chance of getting back, by throwing a wet sponge in his face.

Overall, the evening was a success for the band and for all those who participated.

Junior Woman's Club to hold flea market

Belle Glade Junior Woman's Club members are holding a Flea Market from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at the Belle Glade Municipal Civic Center.

"You name it, we got it" is the way project chairman, Mrs. Sherry Throop, described the variety of goods for sale to the public. "We'll have everything from good used children's toys and furniture to household goods and clothes for any size or style," she elaborated. "All of our inventory items are in basically good shape, and we have avoided accepting any junk items. In addition to the new and almost-new things for sale, we'll have handmade craft items available for buyers interested in doing a little early Christmas shopping, as well as home baked goods for the hungry shoppers."

According to Mrs. Throop, proceeds from the Flea Market will go toward Junior Women's Club community projects and Florida Federation of Women's Club state-wide projects. "For instance," Mrs. Throop explained, "Our Junior club presents a $300 college tuition scholarship each year to a local student. We raise funds to help send handicapped children from the local Exceptional Child Education Center to the county-wide Special Olympics, we help sponsor a cottage at Sunland Training Center for the retarded, sponsor the annual Glades fund-raising drive for the Palm Beach County Unit of the American Cancer Society, and provide visual screening tests for private school students who would not otherwise receive this service, to name only a few of the Club's service activities."

Anyone wishing further information, or having good items to donate to the Flea Market may call Mrs. Throop at 996-7374.

Settlers—

been more than two or three hundred. Of course, by this time we had a road to West Palm Beach and the railroad had just arrived, yet only one year before this, yet business establishments had consisted of only two stores, one gas station and one hotel. That was all. But during this year, by jingoos, the settlement had begun to grow. More people had come here, and new houses and stores had been built. We now had two hotels, three gas stations (one of them was mine), and four grocery stores, and that was mighty convenient. When a fellow used to have his "credick" at one store, there were there he could get it.

Now some folks were talking of incorporating the settlement, just to keep ahead of Chosen.

Now, in case some Doubting Thomases¹ may wonder how come that I can relate this story in such detail, I shall tell you the story right. In the year of 1949 this year decided to celebrate its 21st anniversary with a broadcast on the town's new radio station. Part of the program was to be a reconstruction of this incorporation meeting.

Those still here who had been present got together several times for to try to recollect the events of that day. I busily took notes and wrote a script from which, on the broadcast, each man could repeat his original remarks. So now I can give it to you near about word for word.

In that spring of 1928 there were mightily blamed folk who wanted to incorporate, only the old settlers, Walter Greer, M.C. "Billy" Eggleston, and of course C.E. Riedel, who had staked out a twenty acre townsite in the land around apple woods. Another was C.B. Loner, a vegetable buyer, but we mustn't overlook the newcomer, Dr. William J. Buck, for I wouldn't doubt that he was the master mind for the whole dark plot.

Those who were most opposed were some of the merchants, Lou C. Betzner who had a grocery, B.V. Pace with a furniture store and Frank L. Franz who ran a farm supply place, and also Roscoe Braddock, a farmer who lived a mile away, practically in Chosen.

But the one most dreaded by his opponents was the vegetable buyer, Lewis Creech. When fortified by his education and a good bit of liquor, he could be the most profane, most insulting and most effective opponent you could ever hope not to tangle up with.

Now, those plotters, or progressive citizens, whichever you want to call them, had planned a good way to pull the teeth of those men who opposed the incorporation would be to get them elected into the town council. In that way they couldn't buck the government, and that's exactly the way it worked out.

There had been a previous meeting in the hotel, so everybody knew what was being proposed, and on that Sunday night the church house was jammed with those who wanted to head it off.

Mr. Greer had been chairman at the other meeting, so he took charge of this one.

First he made sure how many were registered voters. Of the 76 in the settlement, 72 were present. He told the purpose of the meeting and outlined the boundaries of the proposed town, which as had been rumored, included Chosen, and then he called for discussion.

Pace, the furniture man, jumped up. "What's the use to talk of boundaries? First let's vote on whether we want to incorporate or not!"

"I can see your print, Mr. Pace," Greer replied, "but how can we know if we want to incorporate unless we decide first what the incorporation should include?"

Then Ross Winn stood up. "You all know I live on Torry island, but like West and Stein and several other men in Chosen asked me to represent them here. They figured you'd want to take them in and make them a part of the town. I'm opposed to being included in the incorporation. If they want a town they'll form one of their own!"

Considerable warm discussion finally set the boundary on the section line at Chosen's east border and excluding West's store which contained the Chosen post office, and happened to be on the wrong side of the line. The whole area decided on was about half a square mile.

Greer then called for nominations for mayor, at which Roscoe Braddock exclaimed, "Before we start voting for a mayor I believe we should discuss whether we even want to incorporate. I've talked to a good many of those present here and find that very few believe we are ready for such a move."

"Billy" Eggleston answered by pointing out that no place could hope to advance unless it had some kind of organization. He stressed the need for rocking the muddy streets, for electricity and good water and for influencing the county to get us more and better roads.

The resulting argument was getting nowhere, so Greer again called for nomination of a mayor, for which job he was easily elected. Then he called for names for town clerk, and J.M. Kelly, Capt. "Hamp" Holloway's bookkeeper was elected.

Meanwhile, however, a heap of fidgeting and whispering was going on. Braddock again got up, and stated in his precise college-educated manner, "Mr. Greer, as I said before, we are proceeding in a hasty way with these elections. Let's decide first if we want to incorporate. Personally I am opposed. I live right next to the Chosen post office, which has just been excluded from the town limits. Except for a store near the depot there are only two houses between me and the Belle Glade bridge. That's a mile of open farm land that will be taxed as city property."

Then Lou Betzner rose, "For once I agree with Roscoe. We are certainly not ready. We don't have the water, nor any immediate chance of getting it, and we don't want any more taxes than what we've already got. Let's vote it down and adjourn!"

Greer replied, "As to taxes, Lou, we propose to incorporate under what is known as the 'village act', under which we would not be allowed to levy any taxes."

Necessary expenses would be paid by fines and forfeitures, by assessments for special benefits or by voluntary contributions, so there is no need to worry about taxes."

"Then that settles it," shouted Louis Creech. "We'd be no better off than we are right now. I say let's adjourn. We don't need any damn corporation, and I'm against it from now till hell freezes over!"

"Well, gentlemen," said Greer, "it may be that you are right, but some of us have given this matter a great deal of thought and believe that at least it should be considered. Now since we have started this, and while you all are here, let's just go ahead and see who we would consider suitable members for a town council in case we should decide to incorporate."

Slips were passed around with instructions to write five names for commissioners. There was considerable challenging of voters. One man, Murray Gay, was caught in the act of dropping nine complete ballots into the hat, and he lived in South Bay at that.

Pace again claimed the floor. "While these ballots are being counted I call for more discussion on this incorporation." Discussion was what he asked for and that's what he got, mostly from Eggleston and others who wanted to see it done, till Greer cut them off with, "I see that the tellers are ready. Mrs. Lanham, which five names received the most votes?"

She announced, "Lewis Creech, Lou Betzner, Frank Franz, B.V. Pace and Dr. Buck."

"Well, gentlemen you have heard the names of those you have approved as a town council and I think you have made mighty good selections. Now who would make a good town marshal?"

While ballots on marshal were being counted Betzner spoke up again. "Before we go any farther with this fiasco, let's vote once and for all on whether we want to incorporate Belle Glade. This nominating and balloting is getting nowhere. We're only wasting our time! I make a motion that we don't incorporate. That's the reason we're here anyway."

At which the carpenter, "Blondy" Newman, slightly high, staggered to his feet to make this classic statement. "Let's desist if we are men or mouse. If we're men let's kill zis perposition, but if we're mice let's go crawl in a hole!"

Greer had to pound like mad to stop the applause while he announced that Clarence Everett, the Ford subdealer, had been elected marshal. Then rising to his full six feet of blacksmith's bone and muscle he sprang the trap.

Ladies and gentlemen, you being a representative group comprised more than two thirds of the qualified electors residing in a proposed town, have elected a mayor, a town clerk, a board of councilmen and a law enforcement officer. Having complied with Public Law No. 1805 of the Revised Statutes of Florida, you have duly incorporated the Town of Belle Glade, and I do now declare it to be legally incorporated!"

Creech jumped up like a wildcat. "That's illegal! You can't do that! I object to the whole blankety-blank proceeding! It's a subterfuge! I'm going to take it to court! I'll get an injunction!"

"Mr. Creech," said Greer now smiling like a gator slipping up on a rabbit, "didn't you take part in voting for these men who were elected?"

"You're mighty blankety-blank right I did, and every man I voted for was elected, too!" shouted Creech, who was bald as a cooter, and whose shining pate was getting red enough to catch ablaze. "But I tell you we are not ready to form a damn town. Why, we are still only a bunch of country muck rats with sawgrass in our hair!"

"Thash right, Mr. Creech," stammered Blondy, "some of us muck rats do have sawgrass in our hair, but where in tarnation are you gonna put your sawgrass?"

Above the resulting laughter, Greer pounded for order and then called on Newman T. Miller, a prominent attorney from West Palm Beach, who by some sort of coincidence just accidentally happened to be seated in the rear pew.

Miller assured them all that the town was indeed now lawfully organized, and just as soon as the elected officials were sworn in, it could proceed to function.

Mister, that was a mad bunch of country muck rats who swarmed out of the church house door, and for a while the new mayor was not the most popular man in town. He had three days in which to take the oath of office, but rather than risk any accidents, he took off that same night for West Palm Beach and hopped the train for Jacksonville.

Miller supposed them to attend the Baptist Convention. But, anyway, he took good care to be sworn in before he got back home.

So now you see what an organized minority can do. That's what I call politics in the swamps.

Commission approves rec program

RELLE GLADE The City Commission approved Tuesday a proposed recreation plan the city intends to sponsor beginning next month in the Lake Shore Middle School gymnasium.

The proposal, written by Recreation Director Johnny Rutledge and Recreation Coordinator Frank Mayfield, will cost the city approximately $9,500 for the next seven months and will include organized volleyball, basketball, gymnastics and square dancing programs.

The gym will be open from 4 to 10 p.m., according to the plan and the program will begin Nov. 21 and end in June.

One problem, broached by City Attorney John Baker, is that he doesn't believe the city is at this time adequately insured for such a program but he was to have met with city staff members Wednesday morning to work out insurance details.

"I think this is a gigantic step," Mayor Tom Altman said, "toward organizing a year-round city sponsored recreation program."

What to cut down on if you want to cut down on your electric bill.

Today, everybody is trying to use less electricity. Partly to conserve energy. But mostly to have lower-cost electric bills.

Yet many consumers don't know which appliances or products use the most electricity. So they go all out trying to save money without really cutting down on their bills.

To help you choose the best ways to conserve energy, we've provided the chart below. Items are "typical" appliance usage figures based both on Florida Power & Light research and industry-wide statistics. These figures are intended strictly as examples in that they reflect the average operating costs of various appliances. However, they are a helpful guide to effective cost-cutting. (Also, keep in mind that power usage varies among different product brands; weather conditions; size, location and insulation of a home; and each family's pattern of usage.)

You'll notice that air-conditioners are the heaviest users. But you can still keep cool, dehumidify your home, and realize substantial savings on your cooling costs by setting your thermostat at 78 degrees. If your thermostat isn't marked in degrees, place a good thermometer in a room out of the air-conditioning flow to be sure you're maintaining 78 degrees.

In addition to the information below, our booklet "HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON YOUR ELECTRIC BILL" will give you many helpful tips on energy conservation. And it's free, at any FPL office. Because at FPL, we want to help you save.

lic, both clubs and organizations and individuals. Altman, using city personnel, mailed 67 letters Tuesday to local clubs asking for their ideas and help in planning the celebration.

Altman asked that their answers be mailed to the Bicentennial Committee, in care of the public library, by Nov. 3 to be discussed by the committee when it next meets on Nov. 4. Any individuals who have ideas are also being encouraged to call, write or drop by the library by Nov. 3 also.

The committee members agreed, that while there will be some official ceremony marking the occasion, probably to feature city officials, it would also be a good idea to plan as many activities as possible, even at overlapping times, to attract the interest of the maximum number of people.

There was also a general agreement among the committee members that the 50th anniversary celebration could provide the impetus for an annual festival, possibly with a harvest theme, based on festivals held by other cities such as Chalo Niska at Moore Haven and the Swamp Cabbage Festival in LaBelle.

Committee member Mary Orsenigo said such a festival, to be held every year in April, would fill the suggestions made earlier this year when the Chamber of Commerce was approached to help back a festival in August in coordination with the Royal Palm Festival.

The Chamber at that time decided August was one of the worst times of year to attempt to hold a festival in the Glades, because so many people are out of town on vacation, the unpredictability of the weather and other factors.

Mrs. Orsenigo was a member of the Chamber's board of directors at the time of the discussion and she pointed out the directors agreed the spring of the year would be a better time to hold one.

City approves waste contract

BELLE GLADE - The City Commission approved Monday a contract with the Palm Beach County Solid Waste Authority to operate a cooperative solid waste disposal facility and a public hearing on transferring state-owned land to the Authority will be held at 9:30 a.m. today.

The contract has been the object of discussions for some time now and there have been a number of changes from the original document offered the city by the Authority.

The changes, coordinated between City Attorney John Baker and the Authority's attorney with Authority Executive Director Tim Hunt, included a provision for an agency beginning participation at a later date, the term of the agreement, which will be for 30 years or the expiration of the original bond issue, the spelling out that the city's full faith and credit are being pledged and revised provisions for how a city could get out of the agreement before the term is completed.

"I think we have the best possible document we're going to have," Mayor Tom Altman said as he praised the joint efforts of the Authority and Baker. The motion to approve the agreement, made by Commissioner William Gress and seconded by Commissioner Kenneth Harris, was passed unanimously.

The hearing, scheduled for this morning, is being called by the Bureau of State Lands to hear any objections to the proposed transfer

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE Directors being installed during the annual awards banquet last week were Tom Bonavia, James Gressinger, Jane Thompson and James Gann. They will serve on the board for the next three years.

Radio men take honors

BELLE GLADE - Two local radio announcers and Radio Station WSWN took top honors Sunday at the Florida Country Music Association Annual Awards Program in Tampa.

The radio station, which recently celebrated its 30th anniversary was named the Station of the Year in the state-wide competition for stations with a Country Music format.

Simon Train was named Bluegrass DJ of the Year and Gary Lee Baker was named Country DJ of the Year.

Train, who has won the honor Baker received Sunday for three of the last four years, said the association just this year expanded its awards program to split categories into Country, Bluegrass, Gospel and Rock Music.

He said there were approximately 1,000 people involved in the Country Music field present at the program, which was held in the Tampa Theatre.

POLICEMAN OF THE YEAR for Belle Glade was John Bernard Runkles, a city officer who reduced burglaries at Glades Central High School by 266 percent.

FRANK TEETS was presented the annual Chamber of Commerce Agri-Business Award last week by outgoing Chamber President Cecil Conley during the annual Chamber of Commerce Awards Banquet.

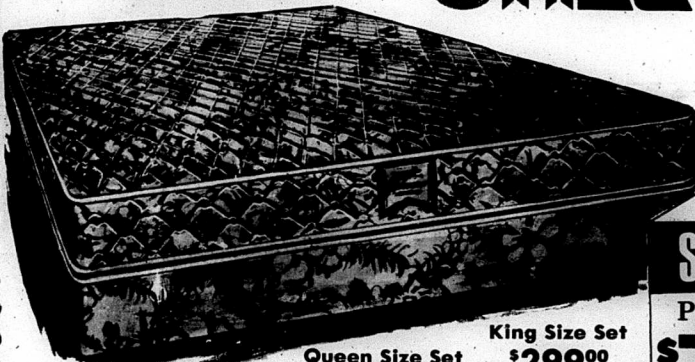

KENNETH C. MOCK got a laugh along with a plaque last week when Franklyn Jones presented him with a special award for his work on the Canal Hazards Safety Committee.

Beat John Carroll for first time ever in anything

Gators keep crowd on their feet in win

BELLE GLADE—The last five minutes of the battle between the Glades Day Gators and John Carroll's Rams kept the fans on their feet in one of the most thrilling displays of high school football put on this year.

The outcome was a Gator win... and a big one... 15-6... with halfback Steve Richie the game's leading "everything", including hero.

It all began as a defensive battle and the game remained scoreless right down to the five-minute mark.

In the first quarter, Glades Day drove down to the 15 on one occasion and attempted a field goal, which was blocked. The Rams came back with their own drive and moved down to the Gator 15 before Richie intercepted a pass on his own two to end the threat.

In the second quarter, the Gators continued to dominate the game, but were unable to mount a scoring drive. Their one opportunity came late in the second period, but instead of attempting another field goal, Coach Byron Walker elected to attempt a touchdown. The drive faltered and at the half, the score stood 0-0.

The third period was like those before, with the Gators gaining ground only to have their drives halted by penalties. The only significant Rams drive was halted, again by Richie, with a pass interception.

It was the fourth quarter that blew the minds of the crowd.

With just over five minutes left in the game, the Gators drove down but were unable to sustain the action. With a fourth and long yardage, Walker called on able kicker Kenny Buckner, who obliged him by booting the ball 41 yards, barely clearing the cross-arm, but putting the Gators in the lead 3-0.

But the Rams came right back with their own drive, moving down to the Gator two with the help of two 15-yard penalties. From there, a quarterback sneak put the AA team on the scoreboard for the first time. The point after failed and the Gators were ahead 6-3.

Only a bit over two minutes remained on the clock. The Gators took the ball and marched down to the eight, where quarterback Tommy Duda surprised the defense by splitting out and Dick Crockett, who he found with an almost perfect pass. The try for the extra point was blocked, but the Gators were ahead to stay, 9-6.

They kicked off to John Carroll and when the dust settled, the clock showed only 27 seconds left.

John Carroll did the only thing its players could... tried for the bomb.

The first two passes were slapped down by the increasingly effective Gator secondary, but the third one settled into the arms of Richie, who ran it back 48 yards to tack on a final six points.

As Richie crossed the end zone, the clock went off, signaling the end of the game and the Gators declined a try at the point after. "We had already won the game," said Coach Walker. "There was no sense in rubbing it in."

Walker was the true optimist throughout the game, unlike some of the fans who know Glades Day had never defeated John Carroll in any sport.

"I never thought we would lose the game," said the first-year head coach. "I thought we would win with the field goal, but when they

Raiders bow to Boca 30-9

BELLE GLADE—In two halves which could have been two different ball games, the Glades Central Raiders bowed Friday night to the visiting Boca Raton Bobcats, 30-9.

Most of the first half of the game went scoreless as both teams put on a defensive exhibition at the expense of each other's offense, with the Raiders stopping one threat late in the first quarter.

A Bobcat drive had rammed the ball from the Raider 49 yard line to the shadow of the goal line when Don Andrews broke a pass play in the end zone on a fourth and one situation on the Raider two yard line.

The defense also set up the first score of the game when an attempted punt by the Bobcats was blocked on the Boca four yard line. When three passes from David Jones to Andrews and Ollie Shepard were incomplete, Allen zo Butts was called on to put three points on the board with a field goal with 5:52 remaining on the clock.

Defense also highlighted the next series of plays which led to Boca's first score of the night. It began five plays after the kickoff when a Raider fell on a Boca fumble but the Bobcat defense came right back when a David Jones pass was intercepted.

In three pass plays following that interception, the Bobcats went to the Raider 35, into the end zone for a four point lead and into the end zone again for a two point conversion, leaving them with a 9-3 edge with 2:36 left in the half.

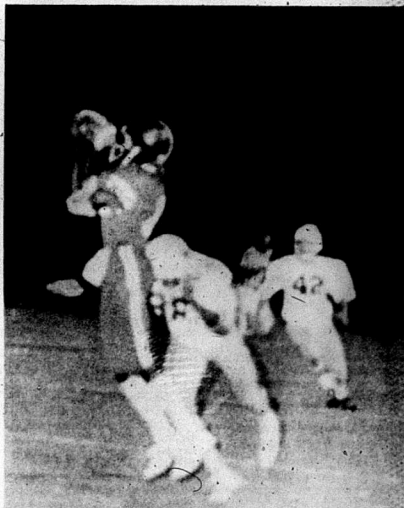

The next series of plays was probably the Raider offense's finest effort in the game, beginning with a kickoff return by Allen Johnson to his own 30, a run by David Robinson to the Raider 39, another Robinson run to the 41 and two more quick plays to the Boca 44 and then down to the 30 before a pass play from Jones to Shepard was incomplete.

Another pass to Willie Williams moved the ball to the Bobcats' 10; however and after two more passes proved fruitless, Jones fired a last-gasp pass to Sheppard in the end zone in a play that started with two seconds left on the clock. The PAT kick, which was done with no time at all on the clock, was good and the Raiders went to the lockers with a slim 9-8 edge.

The second half of the game belonged to the Bobcats, however, who came out showing their authority on the first series of plays, taking the ball from their own 20 on the opening kickoff to a touchdown and a 14-9 lead in eight plays, with one of those coming on a key pass interference penalty which placed the ball on the Raider 4.

It appeared as though the Raiders were going to duplicate the Bobcat feat on their next possession when they started on their own 20. Sheppard took a pass to the Boca 40, Robinson carried to the Bobcat 35 and a helpful pen-

PAHOKEE'S BLUE DEVILS suffered their fourth loss of the season Friday night when they were defeated by the Class AAA Jupiter Warriors. Staff Photo

Pahokee falls to Jupiter 36-15

JUPITER - With the Jupiter Warriors dominating in possession of the football, Pahokee succumbed to their fourth loss of the season Friday night. However, Jupiter is a Class 3A team so it will not affect Pahokee's running in the State Class 2A State Championship.

The Warriors got off to a quick start with two touchdowns scored in the first quarter, but no extra points. The score at the end of the first quarter was 12-0.

Pahokee tried to move the ball at the beginning of the second quarter but their effort was shut out when Jupiter's Bill Brandt pass, Warrior Worth McCullough carried the ball for fifteen yards, two plays later scoring Jupiter's third touchdown. With a two point conversion, the score was 20-0.

The Blue Devils had a strong drive going after Devil Joe Brown took the kickoff to the Pahokee 28 yard line. Samuel Pompey carried the ball for another three yards before a pass was completed from Hannah to Marvin Britt.

On the fourth down and three yards to go, Lawrence Williams made the yardage and gained the first down for Pahokee. But the drive ended when two plays later, the ball was fumbled, Jupiter scoring in the first half.

Early in the third quarter, the Warriors were on the move again, scoring their fourth touchdown and a two point conversion, making the score 28-0.

Late in the third quarter, Joe Brown put the Blue Devils on the scoreboard with a 75 yard punt return. The extra point was good, leaving the score at 20-7, Jupiter ahead, at the end of the third quarter.

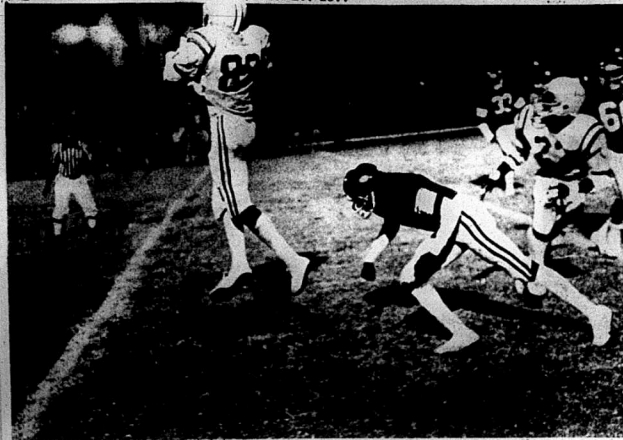

It didn't take long for the Warriors to make a comeback capitalizing on a Pahokee fumble into Warrior hands. The touchdown was a two point conversion, gave them a greater lead of 28-7.

With 9:29 left on the clock, Pahokee's Joe Brown made another charge for the goal line, taking a Hannah pass for the Devils' second and last touchdown. Brown also scored the two point conversion, narrowing Jupiter's lead to 28-15. But the lead widened again with 6:02 left to play in the game, as Jupiter's final touchdown was scored. Another two point conversion was good, making the final score 36-15. Time ran out with Pahokee in possession of the ball, but Jupiter in possession of ally called during a punt play gave the drive new life at the Boca 20 yard line.

Robinson carried to the 19 but that's where things went sour for the home team. A penalty on the Raiders placed the ball back at the Boca 35 as Joe Sheppard pass was no good and a ferocious Bobcat defense sacked Jones on his own 48 yard line, leaving the Raiders with third down and 40.

Coch Willie McDonald sent in quarterback Terry Hannon for the third down play, a long bomb to Sheppard which proved no good and Michael Staples got off a short punt to the Boca 39.

The Raider defense cut short another Boca drive from their own 38 to the Raider 17, where the Bobcat offense ran out of steam and turned the ball over on a fourth and four situation.

The Boca defense gave the coast offensive team another chance, too, when a Bobcat intercepted a pass several plays later on the Boca 48. Three plays later, the Bobcats had scored again, with a two point conversion boosting the Boca lead to 23-9 with 11 minutes left in the final period.

The Bobcats' final score came on the heels of still another defensive play, when Jones fumbled the ball on the Raider 23 three plays after the kickoff, setting up a short drive which ended in another seven points and the final score of 30-9 with 6:44 left in the game.

When the game ended, Boca was once again in possession, having driven from their own 24 to the Raider 26 where time ran out. The Raiders take the field at 8 p.m. Friday at Suncoast for their next conference game.

Buoys to mark limits of commercial fishing

When 130 Coast Guard type buoys arrive on Lake Okeechobee, a lot of folks will be much happier.

For commercial fishermen there's a lot riding on the ability to estimate the required one mile from the nearest emergent vegetation or point of land. The results of an estimate on the short side may include the loss of the permit, fishing license, and equipment in addition to a fine and/or jail sentence. The mile markers should eliminate the guesswork.

For Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission Wildlife Officers who patrol the lake, violators will be easier to spot and prosecute.

According to Lothian Ager, Fisheries Biologist who heads the lake Okeechobee Research Program, numerous complaints are received from sport fishermen who feel trawls or haul seines are operating within the mile limit.

"Because of their inability to judge the distance, a good percent of the time the commercial fishermen are well outside the limit," Ager added.

The buoys will be placed at half mile intervals around the entire lake to delineate the one mile limit and the closed areas of Pelican Bay, South Bay, Fisheating Creek Bay and the north end.

Five experimental markers, set out to indicate the closed area north of a line between Henry Creek and the Kissimmee White light, have successfully reduced the number of problems in that area.

The five foot high buoys, three feet above the water, will have a regulation summary and universal symbol printed in fluorescent orange to remind forgetful fishermen they are too close.

In addition to marking the mile limit, the numbered buoys will also serve as navigational aids for those who are unfamiliar with the lake.

"The only problems we can foresee," Ager said, "are those of periodic maintenance and vandalism. We were concerned with fishermen moving the markers to suit their desires but the problem will be remedied by attaching the markers with steel chains to large anchors that screw into the bottom of the lake."

Commercial fishermen are reminded that several regulation changes became effective July, 1977, and are urged to follow the new requirements. They are:

Fish traps are not to be operated in less than six feet of water. Four feet was the required depth.

Only the permittee or his approved agent shall operate the trawl or haul seine.

Boats may pull only one trawl or seine at a time.

Profile In Business

Ed Rongione is the owner of Quality Cars, a new business located at 809 N.W. 16th St. across from January's Grocery. He opened it about three weeks ago.

At 27, he decided he wanted to get into business on his own, so he bought Quality Cars. For the past five and a half years, he had been the sales manager at a local Ford dealership, so he felt he knew a great deal about cars. This will help him in his new business.

Quality Cars deals in the sales of used cars and trucks. They specialize in lower price automobiles of all makes. Ed also has financing available. He says that he is catering to the working people. Not everyone can afford a new car, although just about everyone needs transportation. This is where Ed comes in.

He selects good cars which are also good-looking, but are also ones that won't cost the customer a lot of money. All his autos are thoroughly checked before being put on the lot. He has an expert mechanic that comes in at night to specifically check out the cars.

Rongione also does some of the work himself. When not selling, he does minor mechanical work and cleaning himself.

Rongione was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, but lived in West Palm Beach most of his life. He graduated from Palm Beach Junior College in 1970.

He met a Belle Glade girl, Tina, married her, and moved here where he has been for almost six years. They have two sons, Jason, 2½, and Brad, 8 months. Ed enjoys tennis in his spare time and belongs to the Elks Club. His wife is a member of the Nu Kappa Sorority.

For the present time, however, Ed is mainly interested in getting Quality Cars on its feet and rolling. He intends to be a lifelong Glades resident, so this project is very important to him.

Ed says he has really enjoyed living in Belle Glade. He says the people are very friendly, and he plans to be here for a long time.

With his youth, ambition and knowledge, it is thought that Quality Cars will be a success and a credit to Belle Glade.

Farmers are asked to make ASC committee nominations

Farmers are asked to nominate candidates of their choice to be on the ASC Community committee ballot, says David A. Spinks, County Executive Director of the Palm Beach County ASC Committee.

The ASC community committee election will be conducted from Nov. 25 to Dec. 5 by mail ballot. The three ASC communities in Palm Beach County are Belle Glade, Coastal and Pahokee.

ASC committees are responsible for managing government farm programs on the local level. To meet the needs of individual producers, ASC committee members must be concerned and responsible individuals. Spinks said.

Palm Beach County farmers have the opportunity to nominate persons they feel would best serve the farm community. Farmers will soon receive petition forms by mail and may begin submitting them to the ASCS office.

A few basic considerations should be kept in mind when circulating petitions, Spinks said. In order to be valid, petitions must be limited to one nominee each.

must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm voters in the ASC community, and must be received in the county ASCS office no later than Monday, Oct. 31.

A list of ASC communities and a list of eligible voters in each community will be posted in the county ASCS office.

Letter

Dear Sir:

Today I learned that there is a new insect repellent designed to be taken by mouth. It comes both for humans and for dogs and cats. The price per 100 is about $5.95 to the public.

The active ingredient is listed as "anestrine hydrochloride" or "betabione hydrochloride." It was interesting to me that both these names are synonyms for thiamine hydrochloride, commonly known as Vitamin B1. Betabione is a German name and anestrine is a British name for thiamine. If purchased as thiamine 100 mg., the price per 100 would be about $1.50. I can think of no reason to use foreign names on the products other than to mislead the public into paying a price that is much too high.

It's always a good idea to check with your pharmacist or physician about new drug products for a straight answer.

Thank you,
Joseph M. Hughes, R.Ph.

Glades Day

came back and scored. I still didn't think we would lose."

Walker had reasons to back up his optimism. Glades Day completely dominated the AA Rams and while Richie may have been the hero of the evening, he wasn't alone as a standout.

Quique Echave, who played his second game off the injury list, was the leading rusher with 81 yards to his credit on 11 carries. Winston Byrd, who has been the workhorse of the local team all year, carried seven times for 48 yards before being sidelined with a knee injury.

Kenny Buckner backed them up by carting the ball 33 yards through tough opposition 11 times.

Quarterback Tommy Duda was also effective in his passing game, throwing eight times for a completion and 15 yards; but they were key yardage plays. He only suffered one interception.

In contrast, the Rams could manage only 110 yards rushing to the Gators' 247, and only 11 yards passing in 14 times, completing two and having three intercepted, all by Richie.

The Gators were forced to punt only once, but John Carroll had to punt three times.

Penalties both hurt and helped the Gators, and did likewise for the Rams, who racked up 96 yards in fouls to the Gators' 83.

Several Gator drives were halted by 15-yard calls but the Gators were helped on their first touchdown drive by two personal foul calls.

Likewise, John Carroll got an assist in their only touchdown drive that ended in a score when penalties obligingly moved the ball down to the Gator 2, the halved the distance to the goal line.

On defense, there were any number of standouts, as usual. Echave and Elmer Miller gave an excellent pass defense and Buckner tied Bruce Sweet for tackle honors by corning eight each.

Echave, Miller and Richie contributed four each and John Scruggs racked up five.

Basil Markham didn't make many tackles, but he kept the Rams from going outside and even though John Carroll tried triple teaming him, he still managed to keep them from running through his section.

In all, the Gators played 17 men on their defensive squad during the game.

The game was very physical, just as Coach Walker said it would be. And the Gator sicklet, which had been healthy, pointed up the fact.

Byrd may or may not play, depending on doctor's findings about his knee and Buckner went out of the game with a sprained ankle. Others on the list include Larry Fowler, who likely won't see action again this year due to a knee operation; John Scruggs, who has a nagging injury that won't keep him out; and Wesley Thompson, who suffered a broken elbow in practice.

This week the Gators, now 5-2, have an opportunity to sew up their district championship. Being the only undefeated district team, if they beat Westminster Saturday and Kings Academy beats Moore Haven Friday night, they'll be the champs, even though they have yet to face Moore Haven.

Westminster is now 3-4 and the Gators will face them in South Pompano at 2:00 Saturday afternoon. In district play, Kings beat them 22-13 and the Gators, as you recall, defeated Kings 17-0.

Walker said the Gators' passing game will be used more against Westminster as they have a tough defensive line.

He told those who wish to follow the Gators to South Pompano to take the following directions: Take SR 80 to Four Points, then turn right on SR 7 to Commercial Blvd. Take a left from there to US 1 and take another left. The Presbyterian Church will be on the left and the field next to the church.

Christian Comments

How about the attitude of rebellion in today's young people? ...Where do they see husbands rebel against wives, and wives against husbands, except in their own parents?...Where do they learn disrespect for national leaders except from criticism they hear in their homes?...Where do they learn disregard for law except in parents who consistently break the speed limit or run a red light when an officer is not looking? ...Where do they lose their belief in the sanctity of marriage except from feuding and divorcing parents?...Where do they learn to tell "white" lies except from a mother who says "Tell her I'm not at home"...What can they think of drinking if we tell them not to do it but we take a cocktail with friends or have "just one beer to relax in the afternoon." ...From where does the attitude of youth toward religion and church come? What do children think when parents put the golf courses, the lakes, or visiting relatives ahead of church attendance? How important is worship to children whose parents let a rain shower or being "tired" keep them home? Where do our children learn so easily to goof off? Why do our children break our hearts with forced or teen-age marriages? It is because we expose them to a constant diet of television and movies where often premarital and extra marital sex are glorified?... What can we expect when we give our high school children their own automobiles, a generous allowance and smile upon their going steady?... We make them grown ups while they are still children... Let's face it. In rearing our children there are forces against us and there is not much we can do about some of these. The greatest influence in molding our children, however, is our family and Christian home and we can do something about these!

Improvement
workshops to be held

The Florida Cooperative Extension Service will be holding two workshops in the Glades, one in Canal Point and the other in Belle Glade.

The first workshop, on November 9th will be held at the Glades Office Building Auditorium in Belle Glade, from 10 a.m. until 12 p.m. on the subject "Saving Energy and Dollars."

Cutting electricity costs will be an item of discussion. Mrs. Arlen C. Jones, Extension Home Economics Agents Program Leader said. Mrs. Jones announces that Cur-Ann Schiller will be the speaker. The other workshop will be held at the Canal Point Community Center in Canal Point on November 16th from 10 a.m. until 12 p.m. on the subject "Accessories for the Home."

Mrs. Jones announces that Alicia M. Hornrich will be the instructor there. The program will include ideas for dressing up your home with sheets. Demonstrations and exhibits will be conducted during the program, as well as a short time for exchanging ideas. These are great gift ideas for the upcoming holiday season, as well as "house dressing up" ideas, Mrs. Jones says.

Church members meet with Michael Rissler

BELLE GLADE- Members of the Church of Christ, Scientist, of Belle Glade met with Michael Rissler, the Christian Science Committee on Publication for Florida chairman.

Mr. Rissler is the Christian Science Church's official representative in Florida in the church's relations with the press, government officials, and other denominations as well as with radio and television personnel.

In his talk, Mr. Rissler pointed out that Christ Jesus' example presented a dual promise to present-day disciples. The first is that the power of God is just as present to heal and save today as it was in Jesus' day and students of Christian Science can bear witness to this fact.

The second, though, is an absolute necessity if such healing power is to be realized. The second promise is that one must and can follow the example of teachings of the Master in order to make way for such Christian healing.

Mr. Rissler is currently traveling throughout the state speaking to Christian Scientists from the Panhandle to the Keys.

Canal Point PTA will hold Halloween carnival

CANAL POINT - The Canal Point Parent Teacher Organization is sponsoring its annual Halloween Carnival on the school grounds on Saturday, Oct. 29. Festivities will kick off with a costume parade and judging at 4:45 p.m. on the south side of the school. The parade will continue down Lakeshore Drive and come to an end on the north side of the school.

Booths will open immediately at the end of the parade, the booths to include a country store, games and food. There will also be a spooky spook house. A chili supper will be served in the cafeteria. Also available will be drinks and dessert.

Prizes to be given away during the carnival are a General Electric 13" color television set and a television game.

Game tickets may be purchased that evening or in advance through school students. Everyone is invited to come on out and join the fun and try to scare the carnival spooks.

Sometimes the desire to run out the door and chuck it all is overpowering when we are confronted with the mess of an after-dinner table!

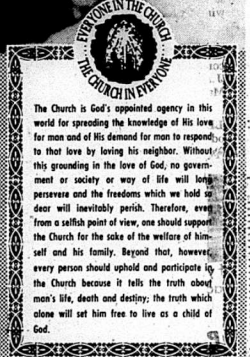

Sometimes, insight lets us see that our lives are quite a mess too. In fact, things seem such a jumble, that our reaction to this truth, if acknowledged, is, "What's the use?"

Well, of course, the only thing to do with the dishes is to take them to the sink, put them in hot water, and wash them with a good cleansing agent until they shine.

Less obvious, perhaps, is what to do with a messed-up life. We invite you to seek an answer in church this week. You are sure to find there the Power who will help you with your problems, a power who cares immeasurably for your soul.

"Casting all your care upon him, for he careth for you." 1 Peter 5:7

"And the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain." Isaiah 40:4b.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
